Am I eligible for the Higher Educational Finance Assistance scheme?Yes, you are eligible for the scheme. The scheme specifically extends financial assistance to wards of registered construction workers pursuing MBBS/BDS through CENTAC, offering a one-time payment of â‚¹1,00,000.I secured admission to an MBBS program outside Puducherry through the National Eligibility Entrance Test (NEET). Am I eligible for the scheme?The scheme is specifically meant for students pursuing MBBS/BDS programs through CENTAC, Puducherry. Therefore, you wouldn't be eligible in this case.I am a ward of a registered construction worker and got admission to a Master of Arts (M.A.) program. Does the scheme offer any assistance for this program?The scheme offers financial assistance for specific programs like UG, PG, Diploma, etc. While M.A. falls under the PG category, it's not included in the list of supported programs. Therefore, you wouldn't be eligible for assistance for this specific program.How is the financial assistance provided under the scheme?The description mentions that the benefit amount is credited through Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) into the bank account of the ward of the worker. Make sure you provide accurate bank account details during the application process.I received assistance for a B.Tech. program but decided to change my branch within the same program. Will this affect my eligibility for the remaining installments?As long as you remain enrolled in a B.Tech. program through CENTAC, the change in branch shouldn't affect your eligibility for the remaining assistance amount. However, it's advisable to inform the Puducherry Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board about the change to ensure smooth processing.Apart from the one-time payment or annual assistance, does the scheme offer any help with paying the semester fees or other educational expenses?The scheme focuses on providing financial aid through the mentioned one-time payments and annual installments. It doesn't cover additional expenses like semester fees, hostel charges, or study materials.Does the scheme offer any non-monetary benefits, like career counseling or internship opportunities, to the wards of construction workers?The description focuses on the financial assistance aspect of the scheme. There's no mention of any additional non-monetary benefits like career counseling or internship opportunities.Are there any performance-linked incentives or bonuses associated with the financial assistance amount, especially for professional courses?The scheme documentation does not mention performance-linked incentives or bonuses associated with the financial assistance amount.Is there an option for online submission of the application form, or is it strictly accepted in person at the Puducherry Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board office?As per the available information, the application process seems to be offline. Applicants may need to visit the Board's office for submission.Is there a specific timeframe within which the financial assistance is disbursed to the beneficiary's bank account?The document does not specify a specific timeframe. However, the use of Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) suggests that the disbursement process aims for a timely and direct transfer to the beneficiary's bank account. Are self-attestation of documents required during the application process?Yes, the self-attestation of the mandatory documents is required if it is specified in the scheme guidelines.Do I need ot pay a fee to apply to this scheme?The entire application process is entirely free of cost.
